

Colour and count the tangled eels

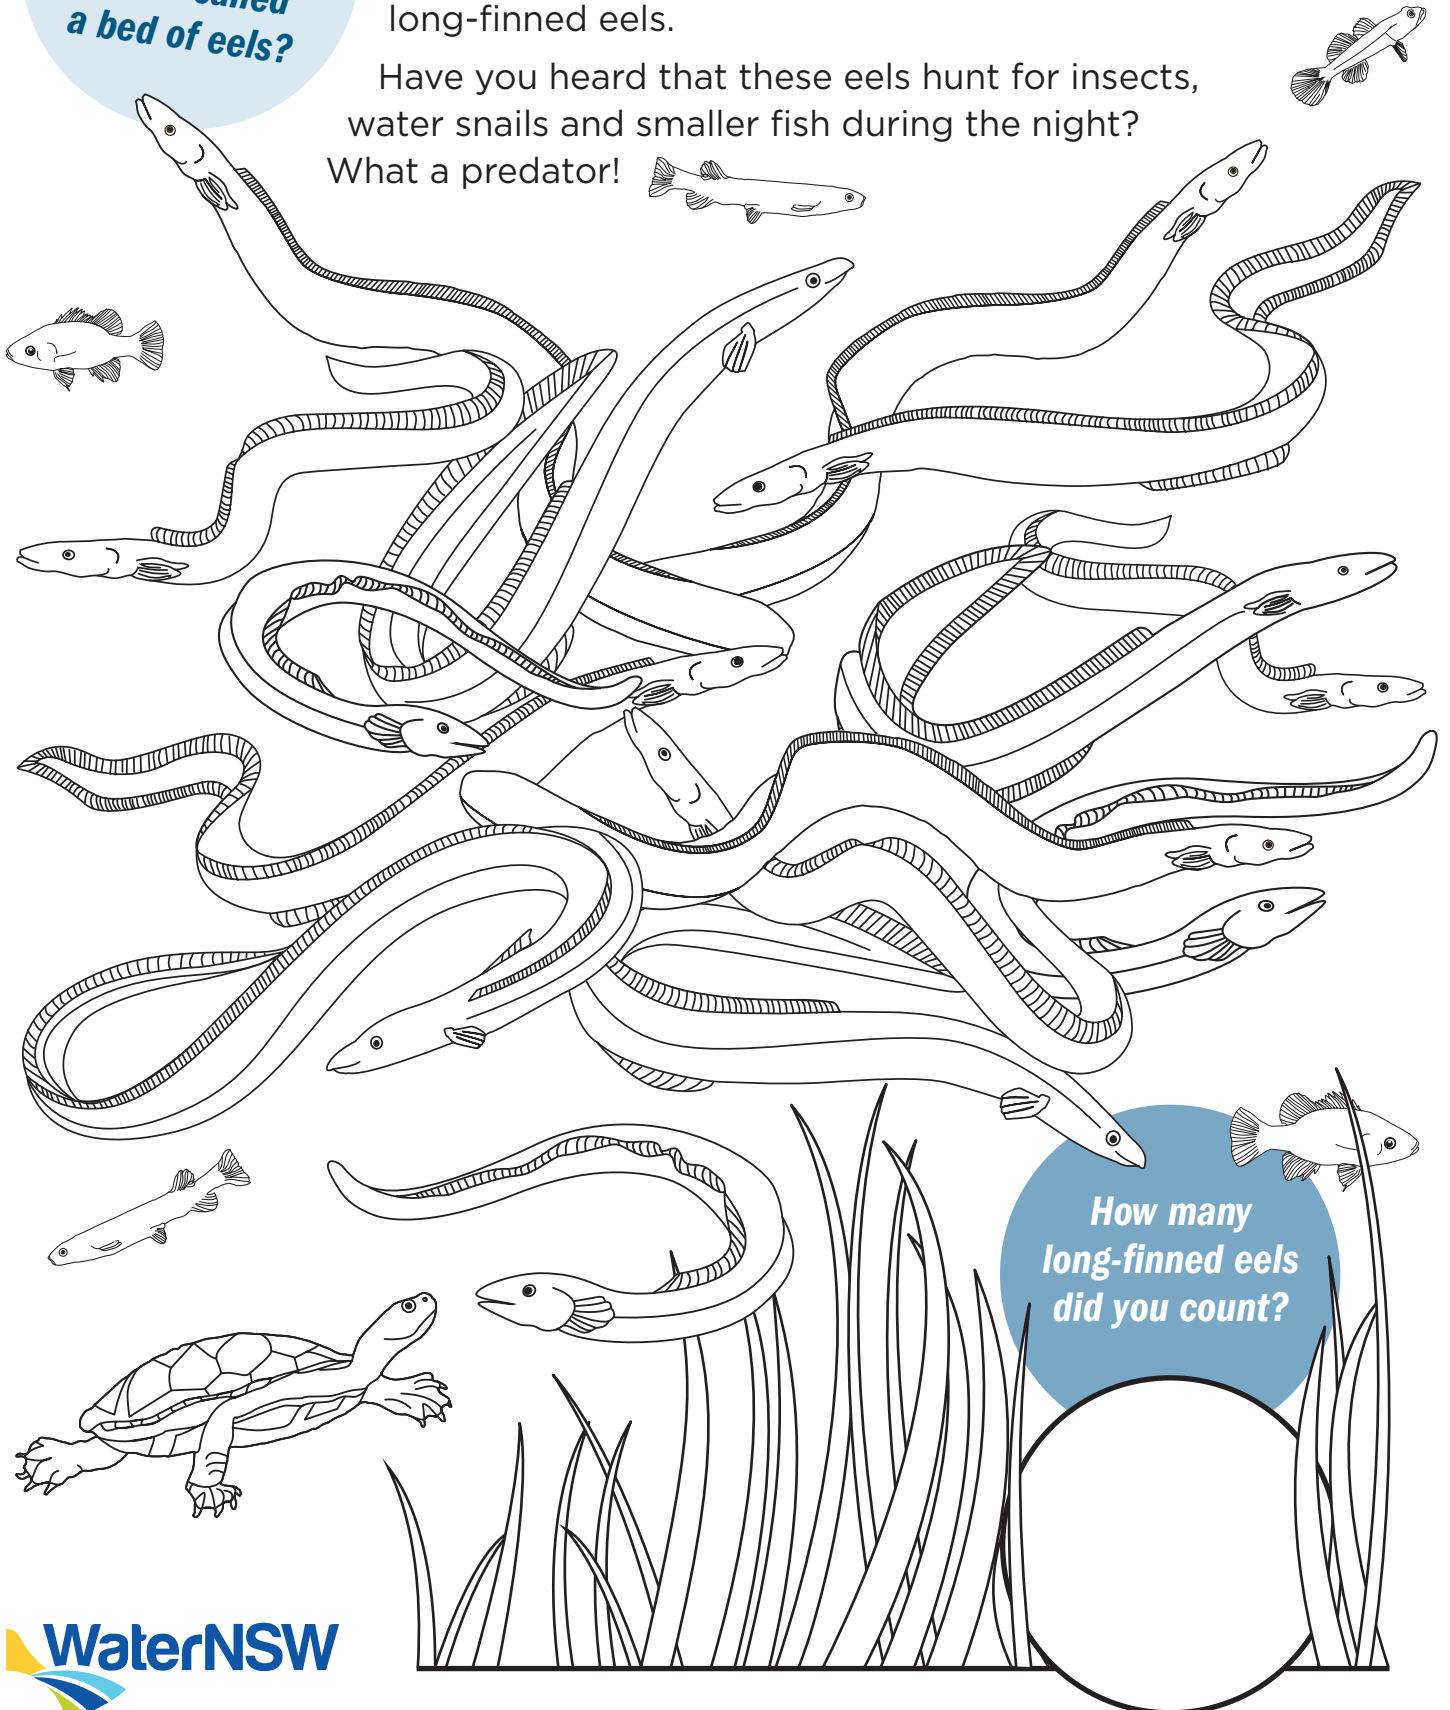

Did you know that a group of eels is called a bed of eels?

Long-finned eels are the largest freshwater eel in Australia.

They can grow to be over 1 metre long and weigh up to 22 kilograms.

Rivers, lakes and farm dams provide habitat for long-finned eels.

Have you heard that these eels hunt for insects, water snails and smaller fish during the night?
What a predator!

How many long-finned eels did you count?
