

Application for a water supply works approval for construction dewatering

This is an application form for the Minister's approval under section 92 of the Water Management Act 2000 (NSW) to construct and use a water supply works approval.

Water supply works approvals for construction dewatering allow you to construct and use a work which takes water from a construction site, including water entering the site from an aquifer (groundwater source) and surface water flowing into the site. Examples of water supply works for construction dewatering include water pumps, water bores, drainage channels and pipes. You may also need to obtain a water access licence \(WAL\) and a water use approval in order to carry out dewatering.

What you need to do

Before filling in this form, applicants are advised to read the guide for an application for a water supply work approval for construction dewatering, which has step-by-step instructions on each section.

Please complete the form with a black/blue ink pen and use BLOCK letters. You can also type directly in this form.

Dewatering checklist for a water management works approval

The following information is essential to allow WaterNSW to assess applications for a water supply works approval for construction related dewatering. The information identified in the list below must be submitted to WaterNSW with the approval application prior to commencement of dewatering:

<input type="checkbox"/>	Written authorisation for the disposal of the extracted groundwater (obtained from council or Sydney Water)
<input type="checkbox"/>	Copy of a valid planning consent for the project and architectural or survey drawings that show the plan and section of the subsurface excavation including relative levels (AHD) and the groundwater table

The application should include a Dewatering Management Plan which clearly and concisely sets out the following:

<input type="checkbox"/>	Current groundwater levels, preferably based on at least three repeat measurements from at least three monitoring bores and should be used to develop a water table map for the site and its near environs, be accompanied by an interpretation of the groundwater flow direction from these data, and an assessment of the likely level to which groundwater might naturally rise during the life of the building.
	Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Predictions of total volume of groundwater to be extracted during the life of the approval (or during the construction period) – the method of calculation and the basis for parameter estimates and any assumptions used to derive the volume are to be clearly documented.
	Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Predicted duration of dewatering at the property, noting that temporary water supply works approvals are generally issued for no more than 24 months.
	Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Details of how dewatering volumes are to be measured, e.g. by calibrated flow meter or other suitable method, and of the maximum depth of the proposed dewatering system.
	Relevant report and page number

<input type="checkbox"/>	Details of any predicted impacts or particular issues, e.g. proximity of groundwater dependent ecosystems springs; or water supply losses by neighbouring groundwater users; or potential subsidence impacts on nearby structures or infrastructure.
Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Details of monitoring proposed during the dewatering program. These should be designed to inform and facilitate the protection of any identified potential impacts.
Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Details of ambient groundwater quality conditions beneath the property and of any proposed treatment to be applied to pumped water prior to disposal – at a minimum, treatment must be undertaken to remove contaminants, manage pH levels, reduce suspended solids and turbidity to acceptable levels and ensure that dissolved oxygen levels are compatible with ambient quality requirements in receiving waters. Groundwater cannot be re- injected into an aquifer without the specific approval of, and licensing by, WaterNSW.
Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Details of how reporting will occur during and following the dewatering program, to confirm that predicted quantities and quality objectives were met.
Relevant report and page number
<input type="checkbox"/>	Description of the method of dewatering and related construction including any proposal to use temporary piling or support walls and the relative depths thereof.
Relevant report and page number

Please note that your application cannot be accepted until all the above information has been satisfactorily addressed and received by WaterNSW.
